

Certificate in International Relations

	Course
POLS 481 (Research Seminar in International Relations)
15 hours of coursework in International Relations (No more than 6 hours outside POLS and may include up to 6 hours in an approved internship relevant to International Relations)
Any Foreign Language (6 hours at the Intermediate level, or equivalent, ie. 201 & 202)

POLS 231- Introduction to World Politics POLS 318- Theories of International Relations POLS 324- Politics of Global Inequality POLS 328- Globalization and Democracy POLS 333- International Cooperation POLS 335- International Conflict POLS 412- International Political Economy POLS 413- American Foreign Policy POLS 415- Contemporary Issues in American Foreign Policy POLS 423- U.S.- Latin American Relations POLS 429- Issues in World Politics POLS 432- The Politics of the European Union POLS 439- Foreign Policy Decision Making POLS 447- National Security Policy	ECON 312- Poverty, Inequality, and Social Policy ECON 320- Economic Development of Europe ECON 324- Comparative Economic Systems ECON 452- International Trade Theory and Policy HIST 305- Mexican-American History HIST 319- U.S. Immigration and Ethnicity HIST 348- Modern Middle East HIST 444- American Military History Since 1901 HIST 463- American Foreign Relations (Since 1913) HIST 464- International Development Since 1918 HIST 465- Extremism and Terrorism SOCI 313- Military, War, and Society SOCI 325- International Business Behavior SOCI 423- Globalization and Social Change
--	---

In addition, variable topic courses such as POLS 291, POLS 306, POLS 485, POLS 489, POLS 491 and POLS 497 may qualify when focused specifically on international relations. Students who would like to inquire or plan for such a course to apply towards the requirements listed should first consult with an Undergraduate Advisor in the Department of Political Science. Other appropriate courses may be approved by the Director of Undergraduate Programs for the Department of Political Science.

This certificate is a means of enhancing undergraduate education through a focused combination of courses, an optional internship, and language development. Administered by the Political Science Department, the program is open to all Texas A&M University undergraduate students. This certificate is designed to help students gain a background for post-graduate studies in international relations; as well as a background for a career in the U.S. Foreign Service, international intelligence or law enforcement, or as a military officer.