

Welcome New Faculty!

The department of Political Science welcomes three new faculty members!

Casey Crisman-Cox who starts this Fall as an Assistant Professor, received his Ph.D. and M.A. in Political Science from the University of Rochester, and a B.A. in Political Science from Pennsylvania State University. Previously he was a Postdoctoral Fellow in Political Science at Washington University. His research interests are in International Relations, Comparative Politics, and Methods. More information on Casey Crisman-Cox can be found here.

Erik Peterson who starts this Fall as an Assistant Professor, received his Ph.D. in Political Science from Stanford University, and a B.A. in Political Science from Northwestern University. Previously, he was a Postdoctoral Fellow in Quantitative Social Science at Dartmouth College. His research interests are in American Politics, Political Communication, and Media & Politics. More information on Erik Peterson can be found here.

Anthony Ives who starts this Fall as an Instructional Assistant Professor, received his Ph.D. and M.A. In Political Science from the University of Texas, and a B.A. in Politics and History from Washington and Lee University. His research interests are in American Politics and Political Theory. More information on Anthony Ives can be found here.